What are the main barriers which prevent disabled people from accessing the things that everyone else takes for granted?

- Lack of Physical Access

Steps
Poor Lighting
Doors too narrow
Shiny surfaces
No accessible toilet

- Lack of Access to Information

Poor signage
Information not available in alternative formats
(Braille / large print / tape / symbols)
Standard information presented in a way that's not accessible to many people (tiny font and confusing colour contrasts)
No induction loop system
British Sign Language interpretation not available

- Poor Attitudes Towards Disabled People

Disabled people seen as a 'problem'
Lack of awareness of the Social Model and current thinking around disability issues
Complying with legislation whilst doing as little as possible

- Organisational Barriers

Policies that don't allow flexibility (e.g. Health and Safety policies / Home Visiting Policy)
